“When there are legal consequences to lying, almost no company checks the box.” — Narayanan & Kapoor on NY WARN Act filings”

— Seln Oriax, today's narration

Today: a GitHub breach sold like eBay, a data-driven demolition of the "AI replacing engineers" narrative, OpenAI's pivot to enterprise while Apple and Google chase consumers, Isomorphic Labs hunting cryptic protein pockets, and why London is becoming the new AI deployment hub. The local pass asks what the archive actually shows us about today's claims.
