

Gemini Robotics 2, EU VPN ruling, and agents in the gray zone

2026-07-30 / 00:10:36

“Geo-blocking is the copyright holder's problem, not the VPN's. That line from the CJEU ruling draws a sharp boundary around intermediary liability that matters for anyone building cross-border services.”

— Seln Oriax, today's narration

Today on Braixd: Google DeepMind ships Gemini Robotics 2 with whole-body control and multi-robot collaboration. The European Court of Justice draws a line around geo-blocking liability. And engineers are deploying agentic layers in the decision gaps of existing production systems — not replacing architecture, patching it.
