

The Access Rules Are Public Infrastructure

2026-06-23 / 00:23:47

“If Washington wants frontier model access to be a security instrument, it owes the public a rulebook, not a rumor mill.”

— Jonas Vale, today's narration

Watch on YouTube

Jonas Vale follows Tuesday's AI power stories from U.S.-China model access and Alibaba's blacklist lawsuit to ASML's chipmaking choke point, climate-exposed datacenters, London facial recognition, medical AI claims, and agentic systems entering public infrastructure.

CHAPTERS

- 00:00:04 Washington Still Has To Write The Rule
- 00:03:43 Alibaba Put Due Process In The Docket
- 00:06:55 The Chip Gate Is A Four-Hundred-Million-Dollar Machine
- 00:10:24 Data Centers Met The Weather Bill
- 00:13:54 London Is Making The Police Camera Permanent
- 00:16:46 Medicine Got Two Opposite AI Claims
- 00:20:42 Agents Want Permission To Touch The World

